COUNTY VALUATION IS INCREASED

$2,147,577 Above Last Year and Will Bring Larger Share of Income Tax—Commission Coming.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 26—An increase of $2,147,577, or 5.06 per cent, in the assessed valuation of real property in Ulster county in 1922 over 1921 is revealed in figures made public today by the State Tax Commission. At the same time the Commission announced that the biennial meeting of the Commission with the supervisors and assessors of the county will take place May 31st in the court house at Kingston at 10 a. m., Eastern standard time.

Under the law the Commission meets every two years with city and town supervisors and the city, town and village assessors of each county. The last meeting in Ulster county was in 1921. The Commission will be represented at the meeting by Commissioner Mark Graves and Deputy Commissioner Seth T. Cole, who is head of the bureau of local assessments. Although the meeting is primarily for the supervisors and assessors any taxpayer or citizen is welcome and is urged to attend because of the importance of the tax matters which will be explained and discussed.

The figures made public today show that the assessed valuation of real property in Ulster county in 1921 amounted to $42,395,439. This figure includes special franchise. In 1922 the assessed valuation was increased to $44,543,016. Because of this increase, it is stated, the county this year will receive a more advantageous share of the distribution of receipts from the state personal income tax, which are distributed on the basis of assessed valuation of real property.

Full total announced Thursday evening		13,316 40
Full total Friday night		$17,628 00

Friday night's supper was served by the ladies of St. John's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Rice called upon the Rev. W. F. Stowe to ask the blessing. There was the usual sauce of spicy song by the girls. The speaker for the evening was Elsworth Mack, a member of the faculty of the Kingston High School, who addressed the workers as a "Club of Warriors," likening them to the American forces in the World War. He called to mind how dark the victory of right looked up to 1918, when the men of these United States, with their fresh spirit and enthusiasm stepped in and helped to win the conquest. It had looked very dark and doubtful, but the renewal of courage changed the outlook. So Mr. Mack hoped to do, by telling the workers that their cause was quite as just and right a one, in its way, as the cause for which the other Americans had fought, and therefore must win and that with flying colors on Saturday evening.

Captain Everett Fowler had been chosed to announce the reports. He did more. He spoke; he enthused; he encouraged. He confessed that in the beginning he was not very enthusiastic over the Young Women's Christian Association, because he did not know just what it all meant. He had been learning, and after looking into the faces of the young women before him, he knew what it meant. It meant a mighty fine thing for Kingston and the young women were then given some choice bits of advice as to how to go about getting the last $7,000. Like Judge Fowler, the night before, Captain Fowler reminded those present that in other drives in Kingston, especially the big war drives, some of the best and biggest contributions, meaning the greatest sacrifice, came from the girls in the industries of Kingston, and he expressed himself in no uncertain terms as to what his opinion of the town would be if now, the men and women of Kingston did not see to it that these young women had the first worth-while thing they had asked for, the Young Women's Christian Association. They were asking no charity but an asset to the entire community and Captain Fowler said they would get it; they just must insist upon getting it.

Miss Horton then announced that it was the custom of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. when putting over a campaign, to make the last day "free for all;" that is today the workers besides going to the people whose cards they hold, may go to any one from whom they think they can secure a contribution.

Miss McLean of the National Board, before giving her "Positively last" instructions said that this campaign had had two or three absolutely unique features. She had never known of any campaign being put over without one "Slump" day, but there had been no such day here. This was the first time that men had been asked to make the reports of the team workers and the initiative thus taken had proved a great success.

While Miss Marion Fernald of the Finance Department of the National organization is still in town, the Freeman has been asked to publicly acknowledge the splendid work that Miss Fernald has done in taking entire charge of the card system, a tremendous undertaking, efficiently put through. Miss Fernald saw service in France during the war.

Topeka, Kans., May 26—Kansas will harvest its smallest winter wheat crop in five years—99,538,000 bushels, last year's production was 116,745,000 bushels. The hessian fly, chinch bug and late rains are contributing causes for the small yield.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES AWARD CONTRACTS

Close Bidding On Books and General Supplies for Board of Education—Routine Matters Receive Attention.

Sealed bids for supplying text books, library books, paper and general supplies to the city schools for the ensuing year were opened by the board of education at its regular monthly meeting Friday evening, and contracts for three of the classes of supplies mentioned were awarded.

The bids were opened as follows:

For text books—Andrew J. Murphy, $3,262.85; Forsyth & Davis, $3,301.24; William O'Reilly, $3,497.35. The contract was awarded to Andrew J. Murphy.

For library books—Forsyth & Davis, $778.86; Andrew J. Murphy, $824; William O'Reilly, $845. The contract was awarded to Forsyth & Davis.

For general supplies—William O'Reilly, $3,214.74; Forsyth & Davis, $3,239.84; Andrew J. Murphy, $3,925.50. The contract was awarded to William O'Reilly.

The bids for supplying paper to the schools were as follows: Forsyth & Davis, $1,427.13; William O'Reilly, $1,548.41; Andrew J. Murphy, $3,255.

The specifications for bids required that bidders submit samples of paper which should be similar to the paper now in use. On testing the samples submitted, the trustees found that the samples submitted by Forsyth & Davis would not hold ink, and it is necessary that the paper used in the schools shall have that quality. The trustees were unanimous in their opinion that paper which would not hold ink would be dear at any price, and they were opposed to buying something which would not be used.

After examination of the samples, on motion of Trustee Gill, the matter of awarding the contract for paper was referred to the supplies committee with power.

Board Has Shown Economy.

The finance committee reported the salary pay roll for May amounting to $20,464.14, and audited vouchers amounting to $3,262.01, both of which were ordered paid.

In presenting the report, Trustee Van Wagonen, chairman of the finance committee, said he wished to call the attention of the board to the economy exercised by the superintendent and the supplies committee. Outside of the bills for insurance, water and other fixed charges, there were practically no bills to be audited.

Arrange for Graduation.

On motion of Trustee Van Wagonen, the president and clerk were authorized to make all necessary arrangements for the commencement exercises of the high and grade schools.

Thinks Another Nurse Needed.

A communication was received from Dr. William A. Hall, state medical inspector of schools, stating that Dr. Sherman had reported her recent inspection of the Kingston city schools and that she reached the same conclusion previously held by Dr. Hall, that with a school population of four thousand, another school nurse is needed as one school nurse cannot do full justice to all the schools. The communication was placed on file.

Trustee Betz Reappointed.

The appointment by Mayor Crane of Mrs. Grace W. Betz as a member of the board of education, for five years to succeed herself was received and placed on file. The appointment was announced several days ago and Mrs. Betz qualified at once.

Calking Paint for Windows.

Mr. Lent, a representative of a paint house, gave the board information concerning a calking paint which is being used in many buildings to fill the cracks between the brickwork and window sashes of school buildings, preventing the entrance of dust around windows during the summer with its attendant discoloration of walls, and preventing the entrance of cold air in winter. The matter of purchasing paint was referred to the building committee.

To Replace Leaky Flues.

Superintendent Michael said that when the high school was in the course of construction, boiler No. 1 was used by the contractor in order to dry out the walls and make the building suitable for working, but careless employes of the contractors had allowed some of the tubes to become burned. Last week, in blowing out the boiler, the janitor discovered several tubes were leaking. It was impossible to tell how many tubes were in this condition but the engineer recommended that an entire new set be installed because if the boiler should happen to go out of commission during zero weather, it would be impossible to heat the building with only one boiler and the damage probably would amount to thousands of dollars. On motion of Trustee Gill, the matter was referred to the building committee with power.

To Meet June 22.

On motion of Trustee Kearney of the rules committee, the board adjourned to meet Friday evening, June 22, because graduation exercises occur on the regular meeting night one week later.

Other matters which received the attention of the school board will be found elsewhere in the Freeman. All the members were present except Trustee Brinnier.

STRUNCK TO PLAY SHORTSTOP HERE

For Colonials Until June 15 at Least if It Takes That Long for Russell to Recover From His Injuries—Played With Tannersville.

After a good deal of telephoning, sending telegrams, etc., the Colonial management finally succeeded in obtaining a shortstop this morning to substitute for Russell who recently received an injury to his leg. Strunck, the player obtained, is not a stranger to local baseball fans as played that position for Tannersville team throughout the entire season last year.

Strunck will stay with the Colonials until June 15, when the Tannersville season opens, if it takes that long for Russell to recover from his injuries.

FUNDAMENTALISTS DOMINATE BAPTISTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 26.—The almost unanimous endorsement by the Northern Baptist convention, in session here, for the new denominational program, involving numerous changes in the church working machinery, was hailed today by the fundamentalists as a victory over the liberal element of the meeting. The new program was presented by J. E. Vichert, dean of Colgate University, and will become effective in May, 1924, at the close of the five years of the new world movement carried on by the Baptists. The program, however, is subject to referendum by local churches.

The convention accorded Dr. J. E. Massee, of Boston, a leader of the fundamentalists, a tremendous ovation when he spoke in favor of the program and passed his motion for the election of a chief executive officer of the general board annually by the convention.

SOMEONE MALIGNED R-G-R'S $4,500 RUG

Stated To Thousands That It Was Worth $45.

In the advertisement for Oriental Rugs, which appeared in Thursday evening's Freeman through an error on the part of someone the famous Chinese Rug which is on exhibition in the Rose-Gorman-Rose window was valued at $45 instead of $4500. There would undoubtedly be a great rush to buy this rare masterpiece of the Chinese weaver's art at the erroneous price, but one glance at the rug itself would be more than sufficient to convince even the uninitiated that the real value of the rug is $4,500 rather than $45.00 as inadvertently stated in the advertisement. Mr. Daghistan who is in charge of the Oriental Rug Exhibit at R-G-R's is an Armenian by birth but an American by adoption and is an expert in his field. He has made very many friends in Kingston and Ulster county and his selection of rugs has won the admiration of all who have seen them.

LUNGS, NOT EARS.

The "Whatisit's" Real Name is Menobranchus.

Editor Freeman:

The "whatisit" mentioned in Friday evening's issue is a menobranchus, a not very rare aquatic reptile. The "red ears" are its lungs. Eons ago when our globe was emerging from the waters and food became more plentiful on land the ancestors of this creature developed by evolution this way of breathing either in water or air and it has bred true since. Do not let W. J. Bryan see this please.

CLAIMS DAHLEM WAS INTOXICATED

Daniel Decker Has Kingston Man Arrested on Charge of Being Drunk While Driving Car Which Wrecked Decker's.

Late Friday afternoon Fred Dahlem of this city was placed under arrest by Officer Saehloff on a warrant sworn out before City Judge Schirick by Daniel Decker of Kerhonkson, who alleges that Dahlem was intoxicated at the time Dahlem's car wrecked the Ford sedan driven by Decker Wednesday evening in front of the old Senate House.

Dahlem furnished bail for his appearance today in police court, at which time he was represented by Attorney Frank W. Brooks. The district attorney's office was represented by Attorney Walter Miller, and by consent the hearing was adjourned to next Thursday afternoon. The bail bond of $500 furnished by Dahlem was continued until that time.

The arrest grew out of a collision between the two cars at which time Decker was badly cut about the face and hands and his car badly damaged. Two young women from Ellenville, the Misses Anna Cameron and Mary Morse, were also slightly injured, and all three were rushed to the Kingston City Hospital, where their injuries were attended to.

Helen Suderly of New York city, arrested by Officer Kuehn on a charge of speeding, was fined $5.

John Fredericks of Steep Rocks, arrested Friday for driving 31 miles on hour on Broadway, contributed $10 to the city treasury.

James Avant, a negro, picked up Friday evening down town by Sergeant Phinney, was given half an hous to leave town. The charge against James was vagrancy.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

DUCKS AND PUDDLES

"Quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck, "how I do love puddles. Of course, a pond is wonderful, and so is a brook, and so is a river, and so is a lake.

"But when things have been drying up a bit after a dry spell of weather and a good rain comes and there are little puddles, oh, how I do love them."

"Quack, quack," said Miss Duck, "I love puddles, too. Indeed I do."

"Quack, quack, quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck, "I like puddles after a dry spell and I like them in the springtime. In the springtime it is so nice to find the puddles and put out one's beak down and feel the soft earth. The frost comes out of the earth then, and we can dig into the earth for some delicacies. Oh, quack, quack, that is pleasant."

"And I remember," said young Mr. Drake, "how you all followed me along on the Duck Cross-Country stroll we had this spring. To be sure we didn't go so very far, but we had a nice walk, and we found many a nice puddle and many a nice thing to eat.

"And how you all did quack-quack, and how you all did follow me and waddle along after me, stopping to eat and stopping to drink and stopping to see what the soft earth had in it and what the little ponds had in them. But there was almost more rejoicing over the puddles than over anything else."

"Quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck, "you are most certainly right. I think I shall give a party and invite all the ducks to come and each of us will tell the story of the nicest puddle ever seen.

"I think it would be fun to have a splendid duck pond dinner and then we could all float about and each tell a puddle story."

"It would be a splendid idea," said Mr. Drake.

"I think so, too, quack, quack," said Miss Duck.

So Mrs. Duck went about and invited every duck to come to her party,

"Rejoicing Over the Puddles."

and she told them what sort of a party it would be, and all the ducks were delighted.

They thought it would be great fun to talk of puddles and to each tell of an interesting experience about, or in, some puddle.

Besides puddles would be a very interesting topic of conversation. So everyone quacked a very polite acceptance and everyone came to the party the next day. Mrs. Duck made great preparations for it. She was busy about the pond all morning. She went to the pond market very bright and early and then she was fussing all the rest of the time, arranging things so they would be just right.

Every duck arrived right on time, and there was a great deal of quack-quacking during dinner and everyone greatly enjoyed the splendid dinner Mrs. Duck had prepared.

And then, after dinner was over, every single duck in turn told the story of the nicest puddle she had ever seen and ever visited, and such funny stories there were about puddles and slipping in the mud.

There were thrilling stories of puddles which had been found after much search. There were stories of interesting puddles which had been filled with such a delightful variety of things. Oh, it was a splendid idea of Mrs. Duck's to have such a party. And how everyone did enjoy telling her own story as well as listening to the stories of all the others. And then when the stories were all over Mrs. Duck paddled and splashed a little to keep time with the song she had all ready to sing, or rather quack, to her guests.

They all enjoyed it immensely for it, too, was about puddles and it was such a cheery song. Then Mrs. Duck taught all the others the chorus and they all joined in and sang it with her. This was the chorus:

Oh, puddles, we simply love,
They come from rain from above.
We quack our joy, we quack our glee,
At every single puddle we see!
We like them big and small.
We like any puddle at all.
Quack! Quack! Quack!

GAS BUGGIES—It's Much Easier To Tell Someone Else.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Of all the men I have known, I cannot recall one whose mother did her level best for him when he was little, who did not turn out well when he grew up.—Frances Parkinson Keyes.

WAYS WITH SPRING FOODS

Asparagus is one of the most appreciated early vegetables. Cooked until tender and served plain with melted butter it is excellent, or served with cream on toast it makes a delightful luncheon dish.

Another method which adds variety is to toss the cooked stalks in butter in a hot frying pan, then spread with butter and grated cheese and brown under the gas flame. Hollandaise sauce is also delicious with cooked asparagus. Cream of asparagus soup is one of the most delicious of all cream soups. Served with a spoonful of whipped cream on top of each bowl, with a sprinkling of minced chives or finely shredded almonds, the soup is par excellence. Cooked stalks thrust through a ring of pepper or tomato and served with rich mayonnaise (a spoonful placed on the side of the salad plate), makes a delightful salad.

Rhubarb is one of our early fruits. It is especially good for the system and blends well with other fruits as drinks. Rhubarb sliced, sprinkled with sugar and baked in the oven until tender is unusually good in flavor. Combined with strawberries and pineapple a most delicious jam or conserve is made.

The cultivated mustard is one of the nicest greens for serving, cooked and dressed with butter and vinegar or lemon juice, or cooked with a slice of fat salt pork. The fresh, pretty leaves served with lettuce in a salad add a zest to the dish which is well liked.

Mustard grows freely and should be found in every garden as it continues to put forth leaves all summer. If the blossoms are kept picked the plants may be useful until late in the fall.

Spanish onion with green or red pepper in rings, radishes and watercress, all add variety to the salads of this time of the year.

A fine dinner menu for this season is a dish of greens with a slice of corned beef, salt pork or ham, which have been cooked together, potatoes, onion salad and rhubarb pie—a dinner which is not only filling but medicinal.

E. Ingenieur Conradi

Here is the first picture to reach America of F. Ingenieur Conradi, the Swiss youth, who assassinated M. Vaslav Vorovsky, the Soviet's unofficial representative at the Lausanne (Switzerland) Near East Conference, and wounded two others as they sat at a dinner table in a Lausanne hotel. The youth declared he killed Vorovsky because his relatives had been killed in Russia.

REAL MUTINY ADDS THRILLS TO "DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS."

It is not every motion picture director who, when called upon to stage some realistic fight, battle or encounter, is enabled to call into use some of the actual participants of a similar and more genuine scene, nor be afforded the opportunity of utilizing instruments of fighting which have actually played a part in such an occurrence.

The mutiny staged by Elmer Clifton, producer and director of "Down to the Sea in Ships," which comes to the Opera House next week, on board the square-rigger, "Charles W Morgan," was in no sense of the word a "strawberry festival" but a real he-man fight. Captain James A. Tilton, engaged as skipper of the craft, which was engaged for an actual whale hunt in the Caribbean Sea, rehearsed with Mr. Clifton an actual mutiny which he participated in years ago, and which was staged with genuine and realistic fury, Captain Tilton participating in the fighting.

The chains and cage which constituted the "brig" in which the villainous first mate is incarcerated after the mutiny, was procured from the Dartmouth Historical Society, and were the original chains in which were brought back the prisoners in the famous mutiny aboard the schooner "The Bounty," that sailed the seven seas in the long ago.

What Does the Distress of Nations Signify From the Bible Standpoint?

DO YOU KNOW—

That Satan's Empire is falling and that Christ's Kingdom is about to be established on this Earth?

That the Earth will never be destroyed?

That the Soul is NOT immortal? And that literal Hell Fire and Purgatory are not taught in the Bible?

That millions of people now living on this earth will never die?

That the purpose of Christ's Kingdom is to destroy death, and to bring life, joy and happiness to all people?

That we are living in the great time of trouble spoken of by Daniel?

1,211 CHILDREN WERE VACCINATED

Two Cases of Smallpox in City Caused Parents to Demand Vaccination—Another Clinic Monday.

According to the monthly report submitted by Superintendent of Schools Michael to the board of education Friday night, 1,211 school children have been vaccinated at the clinics held in various schools following the existence of the two cases of smallpox in the city. The clinic at School No. 7 was compulsory, after which there was a demand on the part of parents for vaccination in the other schools.

Superintendent Michael's report, which relates to attendance, etc., and vaccination, is as follows:

To the Hon. Board of Education:

I respectfully submit the following report on attendance for the month of April.

I have visited all the schools during the month of May and find the work therein moving along in a satisfactory manner.

Due to the existence of two cases of smallpox in the city the Board of Health has given free clinics for vaccination of school children in all the public schools excepting Nos. 3, 6 and the high school. A clinic will be given in No. 3 next Monday. A total of 1,211 children have been vaccinated. The clinic at No. 7 was made compulsory after which there was a demand on the part of the parents for vaccination in the other schools.

I wish to express my high appreciation of the splendid cooperation of the Board of Health, the health officer and nurses in this work.

Respectfully submitted,
M. J. MICHAEL,
Superintendent.

SEEK TREASURE FROM OCEAN

Engineers Confident That Through New Device Much Wealth Can Be Recovered From the Sea.

Immense steel hands will reach down through 65 fathoms of water and seek out the $5,000,000 in gold which sunk with the liner Egypt six months ago. A specially equipped submarine will be sent to the bottom when the wreck has been definitely found. The hulk will be explored from all sides and accurate charts made. Targets will then be selected in the Egypt's hull and large holes made with torpedoes. Exactly what will happen then is a dark secret, except for the fact that a monstrous engineering device, rivaling the dreams even of Jules Verne, is in preparation for the work. All that is known is that the human hand is the underlying motif of the scheme. The hands, attached to giant arms, will reach into the ship and grasp the chests of gold. The steel fingers will not relax, even though the water at that depth would crush a diver's helmet. The treasure will be lifted at the sea bottom and then brought to the surface. Details of this romantic undertaking have been thrashed out by hard-headed business men who are behind it and work will begin next month. It will last three summers. If the project succeeds it will open up the prospect of recovering untold millions now at the bottom of the sea.

"BUT THEY LEARN," SAYS MRS. BETZ

School Trustee's Answer To Trustee Van Wagonen's Wonderment How Children Learn With So Many Vacations.

The adoption of the school calendar for 1923-24 was preceded by an animated discussion at the meeting of the board of education Friday evening.

The calendar prepared by Superintendent of Schools Michael was submitted to the board for action.

Trustee Virgil B. Van Wagonen said he had a few remarks to make on the subject and they were along the same line on which he had expressed himself on other occasions.

"My idea of the school year and of school work," said Mr. Van Wagonen, "is to educate the children and not simply to put in one hundred and eighty days to enable us to get our share of the public school money.

"Now, according to our school calendar, when does teaching end? Teaching stops in the middle of June. The rest of that school year is taken up with examinations and graduations, with entertainments and dances, and there's no more teaching in that month.

"According to this calendar, the schools will reopen on September 10. Labor Day comes on September 3. I think the schools should reopen on September 4.

"What happens after the schools do reopen? The first thing you have is a holiday of some kind or other and the books go shut. Then when the books are opened again for study, along comes another holiday and they go shut again for a holiday or vacation. How many days are spent in sawing wood?

"Here we have a big plant in our school system, with overhead charges going on whether the schools are open or closed. The children have just so much work to do in the course of the year and I believe in their getting down to it promptly. I move that the calendar as submitted be changed so that the schools shall reopen on September 4."

Trustee Gill seconded the motion.

Comparison With Other Years.

Trustee Herbert inquired how the proposed calendar compared with other years.

Superintendent Michael said that under the proposed calendar there were nearly two hundred school days. The vacation period at Christmas was shortened in order to allow the schools to reopen a week later than usual. The latter plan seemed best for the children because most families would not return from their vacations until after Labor Day and their children would not enter school until the Monday following Labor Day, so that those who were present during the preceding week practically had to wait until the school was ready for classes to be organized. In some years the number of school days had been about 180; in some years about 190; under the proposed calendar the number of school days would be nearer 200, and he believed better results would be accomplished.

Trustee Thompson said it had been her observation that the first week in September usually was too hot for successful school work by the children.

"But they've been having eleven weeks' vacation to get ready for school work," said Trustee Van Wagonen.

Mrs. Betz's Answer.

"They no more than open their books than they have a holiday," continued Trustee Van Wagonen. "Then they open them again and they have another holiday, and how under the sun they manage to learn anything with so many vacations and holidays each year beats me."

"But they do learn," said Trustee Betz.

May Prefer Educational Reading.

"And when you pick up the newspapers every day, what do you see?" continued Trustee Van Wagonen. "Column after column about the schools, the high school, this and that grade school, but it's all about athletics and entertainments, and not about education."

The Calendar Adopted.

Trustee Beeres moved as an amendment to Trustee Van Wagonen's motion, that the calendar as prepared be adopted, which was carried, Trustees Van Wagonen and Gill voting in the negative.

"Well, that's one more vote than I had the last time," said Trustee Van Wagonen.

Father William Lenfers

Here is the first picture of Father William Lenfers, the German missionary, who, despite his advanced age, volunteered to enter the stronghold of the Chinese bandits who had kidnapped Americans and other nationals from the Shanghai-Peking Railroad. He sought their release unsuccessfully, but was permitted to return with word that the captives were safe.

Two Ways of Looking at It.

The list of applicants for the job had been boiled down to two, and those were told to call again the following day. After they had gone the foreman said, "I think I would choose the dark fellow."

"Why so?" asked the boss.

"Well, I noticed as he was going out he pushed on the outer edge of that heavy door, showing that he conserves his energy. The light fellow tackled it nearer the middle."

"Well, I don't know," said the boss. "I think perhaps the light fellow would suit us best. The way he tackled that door shows he isn't afraid of work."—Boston Transcript.

Had Him Beaten.

An artist was commissioned to paint the portrait of the flapper daughter of a wealthy family. One order of this kind successfully executed is apt to bring another, so he went happily to work. Things went well enough the first day, which was spent in putting on the crayon sketch. The next day found him hesitating, and on the third day he came to a complete halt.

After viewing his sitter in silence for a few moments he said: "I see that my paints are not going to be brilliant enough. Where do you buy your colors?"

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

A few advocates of American meddling in European affairs are arguing that leadership in international affairs must be taken out of the hands of politicians and soldiers and placed in the care of financial experts and economists. Well, now, perhaps; and again, perhaps not. We have a system of representative government in this country, under a constitution that prescribes very carefully how the men who control our international affairs shall be selected. We elect a president who is vested with the power to appoint diplomatic representatives by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and also with the power to negotiate treaties by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. It may be a rather cumbersome system but thus far it has gotten us along pretty well. It has kept us out of trouble sometimes and yet when an emergency has arisen the system has not been too cumbersome to be operative.

We suppose the critics look upon President Harding as a politician while Mr. Wilson was, in their eyes, a statesman. The man who does what you want him to do in public affairs is a statesman while he who does what you don't want him to do is a mere politician. Mr. Wilson wanted to get us body and soul into the League of Nations. Mr. Harding refuses to get us in by the front door, the side door, the back door or the cellar door. Therefore, our international affairs must be taken out of the hands of "politicians."

It is our guess that the American people will be pretty well satisfied to go on trusting the men they elect to the Presidency and to the United States Senate. Some of them may make mistakes—all of us make mistakes. But when the Senate has a check on diplomatic appointments and also on the ratification of treaties, the mistakes of any one individual are not going to be very serious in their effect.

International financiers may worry all they like about the leadership of international affairs by "politicians." The great majority of Americans prefer to have our affairs conducted by our kind of "politicians" rather than turn them over to people who are always worrying because we do not do something heroic to save Europe.

HOLYOKE HOKUM.

Mount Holyoke college for women is another of our higher institutions of learning that is teaching a dubious sort of Americanism to its students. To the president of Mount Holyoke our present international policy is selfish, materialistic and the "blindest folly" sure to lead to catastrophe. "Common sense," she cries, "calls for action, drastic action, immediate action, different action from that of any that the United States has taken heretofore." The good lady fails to specify just what the line of action should be; all she seemed to be sure of is that it should be drastic, immediate, and different.

Probably the Mount Holyoke head would like to see the United States join the league, imbue new life into that moribund organization, and then sally forth to correct the wickedness of the world according to the literal meaning of the league covenant. France would be set back within her own borders, the reparations problem would be solved off hand, and the United States would collect the amount determined upon. Haughty Turkey would be forced back into Asia, the Greeks reestablished in Smyrna and Asia Minor, a mandate over Armenia accepted by the United States, the Russian government either recognized or a punitive expedition sent against the soviets, the allied debts to the United States scrapped, the protective tariff law torn up, and American labor offered as a sacrifice in order that the struggling people of Europe can have a monopoly of the American market.

Those are some of the things that might happen if the American attitude toward Europe were "different." Probably the president of Mount Holyoke has others to be added to the list. It is too bad that such revolutionary teachings must be put into the students' minds on the theory that they are being given a higher education. It has been charged that our colleges are rapidly becoming hotbeds for un-American propaganda, and if conditions at Mount Holyoke are a true sample of what is taking place, the charge is amply substantiated.

In the last two years the proportion of American overseas trade carried in American ships has declined from 55 to 39 per cent. It was to stop that progressive loss that President Harding and the Republican Congress urged the ship aid bill, only to see it defeated in the closing days of the session by a Democratic filibuster. The president is working now to preserve what he can of our merchant marine by invoking the provisions of the merchant marine act of three years ago. It is an uphill task, but the business sentiment of the country is with him in the work.

1. I have faithfully sprayed my house plants with nicotine to get rid of scale insects, but they keep on spreading. Why doesn't the poison kill them?

The ordinary stomach poison spray is not effective for scale insects because they are sapsuckers, not leaf chewers, and stick their sucking apparatus through the poisoned surface, getting at their food below it, unharmed. Use a kerosene emulsion wash which will will them.

2. I have a pond that freezes to the bottom in winter? Is it possible to raise any kind of fish in it?

If the pond freezes solid, we do not see how fishes could live through the winter, but if there remains a shallow layer of mud and water into which they could retreat and remain sluggish, probably they could winter all right. Bullheads or horned pouts would be a good fish to experiment on, as they are hardy, eat a variety of foods, are good eating themselves and grow rapidly.

3. Are there any hybrid birds?

Yes, but this is rare, and is more likely to be observed under conditions where specimens in zoological parks make, or attempt to make, a match. Warblers occasionally show hybrid combination, the blue-wing and golden-wing mating, and the offspring of this union—evidently following the Mendelian law—may be two hybrids quite distinctly marked, and called Brewster's and Lawrence's warblers. In a wild state, the idea that a bird is hybrid is apt to be suppositious unless the student knows the facts of its parentage. Purple and bronze grackles will occasionally cross.

POVERTY VS. RICHES IN PICKFORD PICTURE.

Mary Pickford's highly diverting re-creation of "Tess of the Storm Country," the first production of which she brought to the screen eight years ago, and the new production which is coming to the Orpheum Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week under a United Artists release, offers a most interesting contrast in the lights and shades of life as symbolized by dramatic feeling visualized before realistic settings of the two widely different classes, squalid and luxurious.

Miss Pickford, as the heroine, Tess, in this picture, is an impoverished resident of a lowly fishermen's village and her cabin is the last word in crude, humble appointments. No carpets grace the floor and all the furniture is of the tumble-down variety. The one stove is so dilapidated it won't even hold smoke, and energetic efforts are necessary to keep the fire from falling out of it. Comforts in this squalid abode are scarce and it is to the credit of the art director that he succeeded in producing such convincing effects of poverty.

America's Marvels
NATURAL AND OTHERWISE

By T. T. Maxey

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP

If you can step-up your imagination so that it can clearly visualize a mastodonic ocean liner 956 feet long, 100 feet wide and 102 feet deep, without including the smoke stacks and weighing 64,000 tons, you can form an impression of the new Queen of the Atlantic—The Majestic.

This—the world's largest ship—makes regular trips between America's largest city, New York, Southampton, England, and Cherbourg, France, in five days flat, land to land.

The hold of the Majestic contains a battery of forty-eight boilers which supply steam to four giant turbine engines, which drive a like number of screw propellers. This power plant develops the amazing capacity of 100,000 horse power. This tremendous force drives this huge craft through the water at the surprising speed of twenty-three knots or sea miles—which is the equivalent of twenty-six land miles—per hour, making the Majestic one of the fastest large passenger-carrying ships on the high seas. Oil is the fuel used.

This ship has nine decks, or to put it another way round, is nine stories high. You can gain some conception of the monstrousness of the interior by reading the following statement issued by the owners: "The space in the great ship occupied chiefly by her housing facilities, so to speak, and her engines and other machinery, is equal to that in 400 average detached suburban residences of eight-rooms each, or of about 800 average four-room city apartments."

This vessel can accommodate 4,000 first, second and third-class passengers, along with a crew of 1,000 and has 1,245 state rooms. There is no end of spacious public apartments including a lounge, palm court, dining saloons, library, reading and writing rooms, smoking room, card room, gymnasium, swimming pool, children's play room and sun porches, barber shop, hair dressing parlor, tailor shop, a conservatory and quarters for pet dogs. The promenade deck is fifty feet above the water and four times around it is one mile.

Wonderful as all that is, however, one does not sense the full significance of it all until he contemplates the staggering quantities of supplies of innumerable kinds that are required to complete the equipment of such a gigantic floating palace. To illustrate, figures supplied by the owners show 17 tons of blankets, 3,000 mattresses, 75 tons of dishes, 77,000 towels, 11,000 sheets, 10,000 table cloths, 45,000 napkins, 55,000 pieces of silver and cutlery, 30,000 plates, 16,000 cups, 2,700 pitchers, 2,400 tea and coffee pots, 29,000 pieces of glassware and so on until your head swims.

About Wrist Pins

A wrist pin knock is a danger signal all too often neglected—your motor can be wrecked by a loose pin. If you are traveling fast at the time, you will be lucky if you do not ram, an approaching car or one parked by the road, or hurtle into a crowd.

Properly adjusted wrist pins break at times, and make trouble. Insurance will make good your loss, both for damage to your car and to the person or property of others if involved in a mixup.

Rich, simple, restful—rugs of Klearflax

A bedroom at the Beekman Arms, a fine old inn at Rhinebeck, N. Y., is illustrated in this week's Saturday Evening Post. A charming spirit of serenity pervades the place.

The effect is achieved by a decorative scheme of inviting simplicity. Klearflax rugs are used on the floors—chosen for their beauty and wearing ability.

Because Klearflax is pure linen, it is peculiarly adapted for fine floor coverings, both in attractive homes and fine public buildings. For it shares linen's unusual qualities; its affinity for lovely color, its durability and dirt resistance.

Klearflax is woven, thick and heavy, entirely of flax strands. Its texture, rough like all new linen, is interestingly unique. It comes in rich, solid colors, bordered effects and handsome Picwick color mixtures. If you want a rug that will daily grow in favor as you live with it, let us show you Klearflax.

SAVE IN USING BUCKWHEAT COAL

One City School Burned 150 Tons Last Winter—Previously Burned Same Quantity of Other Sizes.

A practical demonstration of the saving effected by burning buckwheat coal was furnished to the board of education at its regular monthly meeting Friday night when it learned that one city school burned 150 tons of buckwheat coal last winter which was the same tonnage burned of the larger and more expensive sizes of anthracite in previous years when there was not a coal shortage.

The result of the demonstration led the board to determine to place smaller grates in the school boilers at School No. 5, where the demonstration was made, the present grates being intended for use of larger sizes of anthracite with the result that there was a considerable loss of buckwheat.

Superintendent Michael explained the case, at the request of Trustee Van Wagonen, chairman of the building committee. He said the janitor at School No. 5 had burned about 150 tons of buckwheat coal during the past winter, and had informed him that if the grates could be changed he would rather use it than stove or egg, which had been burned in previous years. Upon examination he had found that in other years the same school had burned practically the same tonnage of egg and stove sizes. He called attention to the fact that the larger sizes cost more than $12 a ton, while buckwheat can be bought for about $7 a ton, and at no time last winter had the board paid more than $9 a ton for it.

Several members of the board pointed out the success achieved in burning buckwheat and the satisfaction it had given in various places around town, especially when the grates were adapted for it, and on motion of Trustee Gill, the matter of changing the grates was referred to the building committee with power.

Other matters which came before the board will be found elsewhere in The Freeman.

"CLEAN UP AS YOU GO" LEAGUE FOR MOTORISTS

All motorists are asked to sign the pledge of the league which reads as fololws:

I, as a member of the Motorists' League for Countryside Preservation, pledge myself to do what I can to preserve the countryside so that all may share in the enjoyment of it. To this end I will leave a resting place or camp site clean; free from papers or litter of any sort. I will be careful of trees and shrubbery, of brooks and streams. I will be careful in the making of camps and fires. I will make every effort to leave the roadside in such condition that the pleasure to be derived from it by others is not lessened through any careless act of mine.

The ladies claim that they can beat the men.

SMALL WHOLE POTATOES GOOD FOR SEEDING

Prove Equal to Pieces of Large Tubers—Source of Seed Important.

For planting purposes small whole potatoes weighing from 1 to 2 ounces are just as good as, if not better than, pieces of large potatoes from the same plant, providing the small tubers come only from healthy, vigorous plants, says the potato specialist at the New York Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva. The continued selection of small seed potatoes from the main crop is not advisable, however, says this station authority, but where the potato field has been inspected and certified as being free from diseased and weak plants the size of the seed potatoes is immaterial.

PLAN TO PUT ON DAIRY SHOW

Interstate and State Committees Will Make National Exposition at Syracuse Great Event.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ithaca, May 26.—A national dairy exposition truly representative of the great eastern dairy industry is the goal of New York state farm leaders, who met in Syracuse recently at a dinner in honor of W. E. Skinner, manager of the National Dairy Association, and established a state and interstate committee to enlist the support of all eastern farmers in making the exposition one that will bring to the attention of the entire country the importance and value of dairying.

"The national dairy show will be held at the state fair grounds at Syracuse in October," Enos Lee, president of the New York State Farm Bureau Federation, stated today, in commenting on the work of making the show a success. "It is the first time it has been held in New York state. For that reason, if for no other, the Farm Bureau has pledged its utmost aid to make the exposition a success.

"The main reason for our interest, however, is that the show has repeatedly shown its importance in giving a new impetus to the dairy industry, both by bringing out the importance of milk as a food, of the dairy industry as one of the most important branches of agriculture, and by giving dairy farmers an opportunity of learning the latest and best methods of economical production."

Closed Car Comforts — at Open Car Cost

Prior to the Coach, closed cars on high-grade chassis were too costly for most buyers.

A moderate priced closed car meant a low-priced chassis.

The Coach, for the first time combined closed car comforts and fine chassis quality, at a price for all. It gives every utility you can get in any closed car. And you do not forfeit performance, reliability and mechanical excellence to obtain these advantages at almost open car cost.

The Coach is staunchly built. Doors and windows stay tight and snug. It is built throughout for long hard service.

On either the Hudson Super-Six or the Essex chassis it meets every family and business requirement—a good looking, easily handled car for comfortable, all weather travel.

In choosing your next car, be sure to see the Coach. It will satisfy your every closed car need at a saving of from $500 to $1200.

THOR'HBRED COW DOESN'T EXIST

This and Other Livestock Terms Frequently Misused—Some Expressions Defined by College.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 26.—There isn't any such animal as a thoroughbred cow. So says a statement from the State Agricultural College pointing out that many terms referring to livestock are frequently incorrectly used.

Among mistakes most freqquently made is the use of the word "thoroughbred" to describe a purebred cow or bull. The college explains that thoroughbred can be used correctly only when it refers to a breed of running horses eligible to registration under certain conditions. The following is the list of terms explained:

A "purebred" animal is one representing a recognized breed, both of whose parents were purebred of the same breed. Any purebred is eligible to registration if the parents in turn have been registered. Not all purebreds are registered. Inferior purebreds should never be registered or used for breeding purposes.

The term "thoroughbred" applies accurately only to the breed of running horses eligible to registration in the General Stud Book of England, the American Stud Book, or affiliated stud books, and under no other circumstances. Dealers, auctioneers, breeders and editors persist in using the awkward term "thoroughbred" when the easier one, purebred, should be employed.

"Standardbred," when applied to horses, refers to a distinct breed of light horses, including trotters and pacers, which are eligible to registration in the American Trotting Register.

A "scrub" is an animal of mixed or unknown breeding without definite type or markings.

A "crossbred" is the progeny of purebred parents of different breeds but of the same species.

A "grade" is the offspring resulting from mating a purebred with a "scrub," or from mating animals not purebred but having close purebred ancestors. The offspring of a purebred and a grade is also a grade. To be classed as such, grades should possess 50 per cent of improved blood.

An "official record" is one made under the rules of a breed association where the weights of milk and the tests for butter fat are made by a test superior working under the direction of an agricultural college or experiment station. Official tests are commonly made for periods of seven days, thirty days, sixty days or even one year, always under the continuous oversight of a test supervisor.

"Semi-official" or similar records are the long time or yearly records made under the supervision of the respective breed associations based on a one or two day supervision each month and the owners' continuous milk records. The Holstein-Friesian records are called semi-official. Ayrshire and Guernsey are called advanced registry records; and the Jersey are called register of merit records.

Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt.

The mangement of the immense Krupt Works, in Essen, Germany, has asked the German Government to permit the retirement of Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, German Ambassador to Washington, in order that he may assume the management of the Krupp plant, of which he was formerly director. Herr Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, husband of Bertha Krupp, and others of his directors, have been sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment by the French authorities, following court martial that was brought about by rioting in the Krupp Works, when eleven German workers were shot down by French troops.

G. L. F. WIPES OUT LOSSES, SUCCESS SEEMS ASSURED

At a meeting of the board of directors of the G. L. F. Exchange, held in Ithaca recently, general Manager H. E. Babcock reported that the farmers distributing organization, in the first quarter of this year, had wiped out an accumulated deficit of nearly $50,000 and was well on the way to a dividend paying basis.

The exchange in the first four months of 1923 more than doubled the volume of sales made during the first six months of last year.

"We believe that the success of the exchange as a distributor of farm supplies is now assured," President Webb declared.

COOPERATIVE FRUIT SALES BRING GOOD AVERAGE PRICE

A better average price, all fruits and all varieties considered, was paid to growers in western New York who sold their fruit cooperatively than to the producers who marketed independently, according to a report made public recently by the western New York fruit growers cooperative association. The statement was based on the pool prices paid to association members for peaches, plums, pears, quinces and fall and winter apples, compared with an average of 1,545 actual sales made by non-members of the organization.

LAUSANNE TO SAY WAR OR PEACE

Allied Delegates Meet Ismet This Afternoon—180,000 Greeks Prepared to Attack 300,000 Turks.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 26.—War in the Balkans between Greece and Turkey is inevitable if the conference of the Allied peace delegates with Ismet Pasha fails at Lausanne this afternoon, according to a Lausanne dispatch.

Declaring that the "Maritza war cloud is about to break," the Daily Express demanded withdrawal of the British troops from Dardanelles so they will not become involved in hostilities.

Both sides have concentrated troops on the Maritza river which forms the Turco-Greek frontier in Thrace. At Adrianople Greeks and Turks are facing each other across the stream. It was there that the Maritza bridge was blown up, the Greeks accusing the Turks and the Turks attributing it to a lightning stroke.

Reports indicate the Turks are intractable, while the Greeks have made full preparations to strike. While outnumbered by the Turks the Greeks occupy positions of greater strategic value.

Turkish troops were estimated at 300,000 while the Greeks were put a 180,000 but the latter were more compactly concentrated.

According to the Daily Express allied warships are prepared to keep the Dardanelles open for commerce if war comes.

RUSSIA AIDING RUHR TERRORISTS

Northern Half Is in Control of Reds and Moscow Soviet Emissaries Are Aiding Berlin Workers' Council in Extending Gains.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, May 26.—Communists executives composing the Red workers' councils in the Rhineland and Westphalia today adopted a resolution calling for "extension of the proletarian strike movement" throughout all Westphalia and the west bank of the Rhine. This inclues the Ruhr.

Essen, May 26.—The German industrial city of Gelsenkirchen, on the northern boundary of the Ruhr, is completely in the hands of the German Reds today. They are ruling with an iron hand, imposing prohibition and threatening the death penalty for looting.

Gelsenkirchen shops are virtually sold out, due to low prices enforced by the Communists. Shopkeepers are unwilling to replenish the stocks owing to heavy losses they would sustain. Famine is threatened.

Trouble is brewing at Hamborne, seat of the great iron and steel works owned by the Thyssen interests. Communists disorders are reported from Bastrop near Dortmund and Bochum. Essen is quiet.

Amsterdam, May 26.—All the northern half of the Ruhr is under control of German Reds, according to advices from the German frontier today. A number of Russian communists are reported to be secretly making their way into Germany. It is reported that a Soviet has been established by the communists at Gersenkirchen.

Berlin, May 26.—German newspapers declared today that the Red rising in the Ruhr is the opening gun of a deep laid Moscow plot for the Bolshevist to sweep through Central Europe. Three Russian communists, arrested at Dortmund, were serving as couriers.

Karl Radek, the cleverest and most cynical Soviet spokesman in Europe, is in Berlin.

Junior Dance a Success.

As was promised, the Juniors of the high school put one of the best dances of the season. Their affair was held Friday night, taking place in the gymnasium of the school, and continuing from shortly before eight until eleven. It was a pretty hall that the dancers found awaiting them. The place had been very attractively decorated, having a Japanese effect. Blossoms and leafy branches were hung about the walls, and dainty streamers of pink and white dangled from the ceiling. In the one corner, seated in a flowery nook, was an idol, and the incense buring by it filled the room with a pleasant odor. The decorations were not superfluous, just enough to give a dainty setting for the merry time. The balcony had been furnished with willow seats, kindly loaned by Gregory & Company, and here the refreshments were served. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Imperial orchestra, and members of the board of education and high school faculty acted as chaperones. Some seventy-five couples fully enjoyed the evening at one of the most successful dances that has been held at the high school this year.

Clerk Misunderstood.

Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois relates this story in the New York Herald:

"I went into a little art shop not long ago and left an order for a small engraving of 'Apollo and the Muses.' The clerk said he would order it, and so in a week I went back. But the clerk informed me there wasn't any such picture.

"'Why, "Apollo and the Muses" is well known the world over. I told the clerk. 'Of course there's such a picture.'

"'What's the title again?' asked the clerk. '"Apollo and the Muses?" I thought you ordered a picture called "Paul in the Museum."'"

ENTERTAIN ELKS AT KINGSTON POINT

A boat trip down the Hudson river is one of the entertainments arranged for visitors to the Elks' state convention, which will open Monday morning, June 4, for a three days' session. Albany Lodge has chartered the steamboat Rensselaer from the Hudson Navigation Company and the trip will be made June 5, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning. The trip will be for members of Albany Lodge as well as delegates, and women visitors will accompany the party.

Everything will be free on the boat and a full day's program has been mapped out, as the excursion will not return until evening. Luncheon will be served and the business session of the state convention for that day will take place on the boat.

The Rochester Glee Club, which is scheduled to arrive Tuesday morning, will furnish part of the entertainment on the water. The trip will be to Kingston Point, where the Rensselaer will dock for two hours, giving the visitors an opportunity to go ashore. The return to Albany will be made in time for the automobile parade in the evening, when prizes will be awarded to the most artistically decorated cars in line.

Members of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, will entertain the excursionists after their arrival at Kingston Point and arrangements will be made to show the visiting Elks the sights of this city.

ASTRONOMY

They sail, they sail—those lighted ships—
Star-schooners out and on,
Cold eddy of the last thought slips
Smooth at their keel and is gone. . . .

Proud they come down on winds unspiced
With aught but the cold scent
Of space, to keep (who knows?) what tryst
Beyond the firmament?

The ultimate spume of light will toss
Upon their sails, and fall
Pearl-spray, to leave dark sheets that cross
Seas with no light at all.

Ghost-craft they steal—how far, how far!—
In what black foam, with stem
Plunging in the wine-dark seas that are
The years that plunge with them.

On, on they steer, span after span,
And only find to lose
What seemed the star Aldebaran
In the shadow of Betelgeuse.

On still: and time—a bowstring—drawn
With a deep sigh must break,
And sink with scattered dark and dawn
Soundlessly in their wake.

On still and out: and space will drop—
Back, back; and the dark host
Anchor where thought itself must stop—
But beyond thought drives the ghost.
—Humbert Wolfe, in the Spectator

GOT SECRETS BY WIRELESS

Ingenious Contrivance by Which Business Rivals Received Information of High Importance.

The members of an important business circle which meets once a week to discuss large transactions were mystified recently to find that the results of their deliberations were known to the outside world even during the process of meetings held behind closed doors.

For some time no solution of the mystery could be found, but one day a curious belt was seen to have slipped down below the vest of one of their number.

He insisted at first that it was a support recommended by his doctor, but eventually admitted that it was a miniature wireless transmitting set.

The belt contained the necessary batteries arranged like cartridges in a bandelier; the aerial was a long coil of wire stitched into his vest. In his coat pocket was a tapping key which worked a muffled buzzer.

The signals sent out by the apparatus were, of course, very weak indeed, but they were easily picked up by a large and extremely sensitive valve receiver situated in an office across the street.

The leakage was explained at once. The offender was ejected minus his body belt—which was kept as a souvenir.

New Sugar Cane.

The variety of sugar cane known as S. C. 12-4, produced by the federal agricultural experiment station in the Virgin Islands, is considered very promising. Recent reports to the United States Department of Agriculture from a plantation in Porto Rico to which cuttings were sent for testing say that the original two and one-half acres planted to this variety have been extended to 200 for the present year. Several of the fields are estimated to yield 60 tons of cane per acre, which, with the average sucrose and purity of the juice, should give nearly 11 tons of 96 per cent sugar per acre. The original field is now giving a fourth ratoon crop that averages 20 tons of cane per acre. A profitable fourth ratoon crop has never before been produced on the plantation with any other variety.

IN MEMORY OF TOLEDO DEAD

Buckeye City and County to Erect Magnificent Monument to Memory of War Heroes.

A monument of "living flame," to memorialize the heroic dead of Toledo, O., and of Lucas county, is to be erected on the most prominent spot in Memorial park, a new project, which, according to founders, will soon become a reality.

Sweeping through the park is a roadway, already known to Toledo citizens as "Memorial Way." Sides of this roadway are flanked by trees, each of which is named for some man from Toledo or Lucas county who made the supreme sacrifice in the World war, bearing his name in everlasting bronze and keeping forever fresh his memory. Other roadways of the park will be named after cities, towns and particular engagements in which these men fought. The whole centers around the great monument, where a tower of unusual proportions is surmounted by a light which may be seen for miles.

The site of the park covers 215 acres, much of which is forested and naturally adapts itself to landscaping. While a portion of the park is to be used as a general cemetery, a section near the monument, which will permit the interment of 2,000 bodies, has been set aside for the use of the American Legion, where the bodies of soldier and sailor dead may be interred and perpetual care assured. The administration of this section is directly under the Lucas county Legion council, who will have a seat on the board of trustees.

Dedication of the memorial trees is planned for Decoration day, at which time the Legion will have charge of the services. The ceremony of the laying of the corner stone will occur later in the summer.

The "Memorial Lantern," as the monument is tentatively known, will be maintained by the park officials without cost to soldiers' organizations, and arrangements are being perfected by them to make the burning of the great light perpetual.

KNOW THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

Minneapolis Aliens, Members of Americanism Graduating Class, Sing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

At least one group of Minneapolis aliens have proved that they know the words of the national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," better than do many native Americans, according to a report received by the Americanism commission of the American Legion.

These aliens, all members of Americanization classes conducted throughout the city by school and naturalization officials, have completed their night school work and made up a class of 63 graduates at a commencement day program recently held.

Greeks and Italians mingled with the blond sons of Norway and Sweden, lads not out of their 'teens sat on the platform with a number of middle-aged women and older men, all with a mutual desire—to become American citizens.

As the closing feature of the commencement day program both the class and the audience, numbering nearly 1,000, stood and sang the national anthem. Those of the class knew the song, every word of it. The learning of it had been one of the most interesting achievements of the whole course of training for citizenry they had undertaken. Many members of the audience, singing away, stumbled over words of the verses, forgetting them, while those who were aspiring to become American citizens sang every word.

Diplomas were presented to all graduates of the class by Minnesota school and naturalization authorities, under whose auspices the classes are held. The classes are well attended and are decreasing difficulties which naturalization presents to the foreigner, making Americanization problems much easier for both the authorities and the aspirants for citizenship.

ALL URGED TO WEAR A POPPY

Chamber of Commerce of United States Requests Reverence of Men Who Fell in France.

All Americans are urged to wear the French poppy on Memorial day "in honor of the men who fell in France," by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in a recent bulletin to member bodies in all parts of the country.

Replying to a request for assistance from the American Legion, Elliot H. Goodwin, resident vice president of the chamber, said:

"With this request we very gladly and sympathetically comply. It is our hope that organizations of business men will promote the wearing of poppies on May 30."

Poppies will be sold by American Legion posts and units of the Legion Auxiliary for the benefit of its graves endowment fund, for service and relief work and for war memorials.

FOR THEIR BUDDIES' GRAVES

Disabled Men in Oteen (N. C.) Hospital Contribute in Remembrance of Fallen Comrades.

Disabled veterans, who have spe long years in an effort to regain the health shattered by World war servic remember their fallen comrades wh lie in "Flanders Fields."

Accompanying a tin box containing money for the American Legion's e dowment fund to provide for th decoration of the graves of overse dead, came a note from ex-service me in ward 1-3 of United States hospita at Oteen, N. C., as follows:

"National Treasurer, American Legion:

"Enclosed you will find the mite co tributed by the boys of ward 1-3 this hospital. Each coin dropped in this little box was dropped with th remembrance of the boys who fell, o buddies, and the least we feel we ca do is to wish for their graves to b kept green.

And the thought we send across the w
As we lie upon our cot,
Is to plant upon each far-off grave
One sweet forget-me-not.

Proceeds of the Legion's endowment fund will insure that the graves of 32,000 veterans in Europe will be decorated each Memorial day.

HERRICK LAUDS FUND PLA

Ambassador to France Endorses Legion's Campaign to Provide for Decoration of Graves.

Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, recently wrote American Legion national headquarters in Indianapolis endorsing the Legion's campaign to raise a fund to provide for the decoration of 32,000 graves of war dead overseas each Memorial day.

"This delicate and kindly thought of the American Legion in assuming the responsibility for the appropriate decoration of the graves of the American soldiers in France has received the universal and grateful approval of the families, relatives and friends of its dead comrades," Ambassador Herrick stated. "It is an assurance of permanency and efficiency in the outward remembrance of our honored dead. Also, it is a comforting thought that the graves of our boys who sleep in the fields of France, where they fought and died have become the sacred trust of their living comrades, the Legionnaires."

Similar messages of approval for the campaign have been received by the Legion from General Pershing and Secretary of War Weeks.

An Even Chance.

Hogan was tired of the city and wanted to move out to the great open spaces where men are men and all that sort of thing. Accordingly, he sought information from a friend.

"Clancy," he said, "ye've taken a homestead, so ye know all about it. Will ye be tellin' me th' law about goin' about it?"

"Well," said Clancy, "I'm not after rememberin' the letter of th' law, but here's what it amounts to. Th' guvment is willin' to bet ye wan hundred an' sixty acres of land agin' $14 that ye can't live on it five years without starvin' to death."—American Legion Weekly.

SEEK RELICS OF OLD RACE

Interesting Discoveries Expected to Follow Excavations in Mounds Near East St. Louis.

The ruins of the largest prehistoric city in the United States lie near the juncture of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers close to East St. Louis, Ill. Eighty mounds are scattered over an area of two thousand acres. One of them is the largest ever found in this country.

When white men first visited that region two hundred years ago they found a small village of Cahokia Indians living on the site and the mounds had been given their names. But they told the white men the mounds were there when they came. No one could tell who built them nor what became of the vast population.

It is believed these mounds were built by American Indians rather than by a separate race.

The mounds are being excavated under the direction of Warren K. Moorehead, curator of the department of archeology, Phillips academy, Andover, Mass. Several years will be required to complete the exploration of the ruins. But the time is short. The spread of factories is so rapid in that locality that if explorations are delayed the mounds might be leveled to make way for modern industry. Thus the secrets of that ancient civilization would be lost forever.

Some Are Just Spoiled.

"Y" BOYS HAVE SPRING BANQUET

Ending Successful Indoor Season—Prizes Awarded Athletes—Baseball League In Making.

The active organized indoor work of the boys' department of the local Y. M. C. A. was formerly brought to a close with a banquet held in the boys' rooms Friday evening. A goodly representation of the boys' department turned out. A bountiful supper, a chicken feed with all the fixtures, was the main attraction. After the supper was over there were short talks by Mr. Hall, boys' secretary, and Mr. Miller, physical director. These speakers talked about the work in the boys' department, commenting favorably upon the attitude of the boys during the past year. This department has proved very successful in its work. The boys this past year made a real name for their association by the showing in the hexathlon, coming out seventh in the Class C, in which there were some fifty odd associations from all over the United States. This showed a great improvement over the work last year, when they made tenth place. This rise in place was made along with much better records on the part of the other contestants.

The other departments have proved equally as successful as the physical department. Throughout the winter, the young lads came together after school, almost every Friday night, and Saturdays, playing games, and enjoying the entertainments put on by the social committee. Religious talks were given from time to time and were very well attended, showing that the department is not falling down in this important part of its program. The "Y" is now taking its place as an institution for boys, a place where the boys, the youths, and the young men of the city can come together and meet each other, where they can enjoy a jolly time, where they can build up their bodies, and where they find predominant the true Christian spirit. The local associatios has proved very successful in all these during the past winter.

Then the prizes were awarded to the winners in the athletic meets and other contests.

The watch fob for the championship in the Student A pool tournament went to Joe Murphy.

Wesley Hyatt took the prize for the best pool player in Student B, and Kenneth Williams the prize for cue roque.

Robert Clark won a year's membership in the association for bringing in the most number of members during the year.

The members of the Arrow basketball team, of the Hi-Y League were to have been presented with bronze medals at this time, but the company was slow in getting them here and they will have to be delivered later. The Arrows were the winners of the Hi-Y League. The members of the team were: MacFadden, captain; Stelle, Powley, Carroll, Morris, Schultz, Perry.

The Princeton team won the group game contest in the gym classes. These games were held this spring for Student B, the boys being divided up into equal groups. Various games were played between the contesting teams, and Princeton came out the winner. The Princeton team was as follows: Wells, Brownrigg, Bruck, Fuchsle, Gaddis, V. Smith, Farkas, Whitemore, C. Port.

Buttons won by boys in the hexathlon were also given out. Those winning first place in the various events were given a blue ribbon, those taking second a red ribbon, and those winning third a white ribbon. The following received ribbons:

Short Potato Race.
1—K. Fuchsle.
2—V. Smith.
3—A. Adams.

The regular gym classes will not be held again until next fall, but the gymnasium will be open at the usual time for those who want to use it. The banquet finished up the scheduled indoor work, but there is something in the wind to keep the members busy. Mr. Miller has a baseball league that he is trying hard to get in running shape, and it will probably afford many a good time for the boys during the summer.

Voice of Wisdom.

Some great thinker has said that if you make a better mousetrap than any one else the world will beat a path to your door. A young college graduate was dilating on this. It was, he said, majestic philosophy. He proposed to mold his career accordingly.

"Everything depends on circumstances, boy," responded his old uncle. "A man in the mousetrap business might well let the world beat a path to his door. But a man with a filling station had better go where the road is."
